UNDERGRADUATE PROGRAM

Bachelor of Arts

Psychology, English / Honours / Honours with Research

DURATION & TIMINGS

4 Years (8 Semesters)

09:45 AM - 03:45 PM

The BA (Psychology, English/Honours/Honours with Research) is an interdisciplinary undergraduate programme that integrates the study of human behaviour, mental processes, literature, language and communication. The programme enables students to develop a strong foundation in psychology while exploring the critical, analytical and creative dimensions of English studies.

Through interdisciplinary learning, research opportunities, experiential education and skill development, students are prepared to understand individuals and society from diverse perspectives and build competencies for higher education, research, psychology-related fields, communication, education, media and other emerging career pathways.

PROGRAMME HIGHLIGHTS

Interdisciplinary Learning: Integrates Psychology and English to develop a holistic understanding of human behaviour, language, literature and society.

Strong Foundation in Psychology: Builds knowledge of psychological concepts, theories, research methods and applications across diverse contexts.

Literary and Communication Skills: Develops critical reading, creative expression, analytical thinking and effective communication through the study of English.

Research Orientation: Encourages evidence-based inquiry, academic writing and research skills, with an enhanced research pathway under the Honours with Research option.

Career and Higher Education Readiness: Prepares students for postgraduate studies and diverse opportunities in psychology, research, education, media, content and communication, and related fields.
